Buddy

Decentralized Development Automation Platform

Buddy is disrupting the $110 billion application development and deployment software industry

About Buddy

Buddy is a winning development automation platform that serves a rapidly growing market valued to become $345 billion by 2022. Partnered by industry leaders such as Docker, Github, Microsoft Azure and Google.

Our Vision

Our vision is to become the backbone on which talented people can build world-altering apps & services. Our goal is to take the load off millions of developers by offloading everything that can be automated – giving them back the time for being creative.

Industry Problems

Barriers to adoption

Development automation provides great value but its adoption is challenging because of app complexity, ingrained cultures and too many tools

Obsolete tools

Solutions that come and go can't continue to innovate and will have to be replaced

Difficult scaling

Large teams which use automation as a key differentiator and value driver, struggle to scale up their DevOps infrastructure

Opportunities

$110 Billion Market

Expected to grow to $345 billion by 2022

Astronomical ROI

Medium-to-large high performers can save more than $30M yearly
